

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A resin composition comprises a thermoplastic resin, and an oxidized compound having a hydrophobic group and a polar group on the surface thereof. The resin composition of the present invention has high rigidity, dimensional stability, transparency and impact strength by dispersing the oxidized compound having the hydrophobic group and the polar group on the surface thereof in the thermoplastic resin, and is thus preferably applied to various molded products and parts of a vehicle.